

Genesis: The Key to the Bible
(Part 4) Creativity in Action

The biblical account of the origin of the universe is not _____ – it is a matter of _____

Law of Causation – every phenomenon owes its existence to a _____

Divine intelligence must be involved in creation to prevent total _____ (Isaiah 45:18)

We can observe that nature is a free, orderly, progressive sequence of events headed toward an ultimate _____ (Colossians 1:15-17)

Law of _____ - the world was not created all at once

Certain parts appeared in _____ order and each new act is specified

There are _____ days (periods) of creation

(Genesis 1:3) God said, let there be something that has _____ been – light

God did not use _____ components to form the earth or heavens or light or anything else

Light is the _____ requirement for life itself

The light was not so _____ as to cause harm, but also not so _____ as to be ineffective

There was _____ in the light to protect and illuminate

(Genesis 1:4-5) Light and darkness _____

(v.4) God separates the light from the darkness

Light is good (Luke 8:16-17; I Thess. 5:5-8)

(v.5) God calls the light day, and the darkness night

End of the first day (Period) of creation

(v.6-8) God creates the _____

Waters of heaven separated from the waters of earth

Clouds in the sky for rain and to _____ the air

End of second day (period) of creation and it was good

(v.9-13) God separates the water and dry land

Oceans are formed to _____ water from rivers

(v.11-12) Vegetation begins to reproduce

Light, water and dry land had to be _____ first for photosynthesis to occur

End of third day (period) of creation and it was good