

Mark: Cleansing the Moral Poison of Society
(Part 7) Choosing Leaders Among the Followers

Radicals with charismatic personalities can _____ a crowd of followers.

Jesus' _____ obstinance toward religious leaders was new.

His teaching and miraculous intervention was _____ to all who experienced it.

(Mark 3:7-8) Jesus' fame and popularity is spreading past Capernaum, drawing massive crowds.

People walked between _____ miles to see and hear him.

(Mark 3:9-12) Jesus is God over sickness, disease, and evil spirits.

The crowds were so intent on reaching Jesus, they almost _____ him.

Someone must help with the specific facets involved as a group begins to _____.

(Mark 3:13-19) Choosing leaders among the followers.

(v.13-15) Jesus chooses _____ to be the leaders of all the disciples.

They are designated as apostles.

Sent into the world in Jesus' name teaching his message and empowered to perform miracles.

(v.16-19) An unlikely group

Simon (Peter) - A professional fisherman

James and John – Professional fishermen with _____ tendencies

James beheaded by Herod AD 44

John was _____ of Jesus core group –

Andrew – Peter's little brother, a professional fisherman, former disciple of John the baptizer, introduced people to Jesus.

Phillip – from same town as Peter and Andrew, Invited Nathaniel to Meet Jesus

Bartholomew (Nathaniel), possibly from a _____ family

Matthew (Levi) a tax collector for Rome

Thomas – known for doubting.

James (son of Alpheus) also referred to as "James the younger." brother of Matthew.

Thaddeus (Jude) – a zealot or Jewish nationalist intent on overthrowing _____

Simon the Zealot – A zealot or Jewish nationalist intent on overthrowing Rome

Judas Iscariot – Betrayer of Jesus and the only disciple with a " _____ "

Jesus chooses you too.