(Hebrews 13:1-7) Lives that are pleasing to God.

    (v.1) Keep on loving each other.

        Brotherly love is a gift of the new birth of_____.

    (v.2) Extend your care to those outside your circle of friends.

        God extended his grace to us when we were _____to him (Ephesians 2:11-13)

        Some have been unaware that they have been in the presence of God's messengers.

    (v.3) Do not forget those who are being persecuted for their_____.

        We must not lose the eternal perspective of identifying with those that suffer for righteousness' sake.
           (Matthew 25:31-46)

    (v.4) Hold Marriage in the highest esteem and _____ against immorality.

        Marriage was the first human relationship established by God. (Genesis 2:21-25)

        Sexual union of any other kind than between husband and wife is immoral and _____forbidden.
           (1 Cor. 6:18-20; Eph.5:3; 1 Thess. 4:3-8)

    (v.5-6) Trust in God rather than earthly possessions, and fear dissipates.

        The Father knows all of our needs and is sufficient to provide our needs. (Matt. 6:33; Philippians 4:10-13)

    (v.7) Remember those who have aided you in your walk with the Lord.

        It is imperative that Christian leaders set the _____and lead others by example.

        Those that are taught by faithful witnesses for Christ should imitate their faith.

(Hebrews 13: 8-16) Remember that Jesus is a far better alternative than the Old Covenant.

    (v.8-9) New fads arise, and old rules return, but the New Covenant in is based in Jesus who _____changes.

        Human leaders and their ideologies may change as worldly pressure increases, but the Lord doesn't.

    (v.10-16) Sacrifices that please God.

        (v.10-12) Old Covenant practices are no longer necessary because Jesus is the once for all sacrifice.

        (v.13-14) Following Christ is not _____ in the modern culture.

           We must be eternally and heavenly minded as we journey temporarily on the earth.

        (v.15-16) _____ that should be practiced daily.